

INVESTMENT OPPORTUNITY

Investing in Airtistic.ai

US$100,000 at US$600,000 post-money, to turn a large multilingual publication about AI in the arts into the business its readers already ask it to be.

Airtistic.ai is where artists decide what to do about AI — a multilingual publication with a priced services practice attached.

Financial terms, revenue and detailed materials are available on request. Figures describe capacity built and operating today; forward-looking statements are identified as such.

Why this company

Three things are already true, and none of them needs this round to become true.

A published body of work, not a landing page

The site is live in English, Spanish and French with 280+ pages: 200+ content units across its content collections, 50+ reviewed tools, 50+ glossary entries and 40+ prompts, plus dozens of long-form essays. Further languages are translated and staged behind an editorial pass.

The offer is already priced in public

The commercial lines carry published prices — the AI Creative Suite subscription, the AI Readiness Assessment, Consulting, Case Implementation, Training and Speaking — and a Digital Twin engagement is scoped on request. Every figure on the revenue page is quoted from the page that publishes it.

Built on the CEMI platform

Airtistic.ai runs on CEMI's shared research, production and delivery pipeline. That is what makes a vertical of this size affordable to operate, and what makes the next one cheaper than the last.

Where this sits

Airtistic.ai is one initiative of CEMI.ai and runs on the group's shared platform. The institutional picture — the thesis, the pipeline, the portfolio, governance — lives in the CEMI dossier. This kit is the investment document and does not repeat it.
